POTOSI, : : : MISSOURI A correspondent at Santiago de Cuba says the natives there are becoming adepts in the American game of base ball. Havana may yet bid for a place in the National league. Mark Twain certainly is a-delicious rist. He must have been laughing to himself when he gave out an ex-tended interview in order to assert that he would decline to be interviewed.

The last enumeration shows a large falling off in the number of book agents, which in itself is a good argument in favor of taking the census every five instead of every ten Irrigation has become one of man's most valuable servants. A government report shows that 12,000,000 acres of the famous Sahara desert have been converted into fertile lands and the work goes rapidly on.

A London magazine has been discussing the question: Should literary men marry? A contemporary suggests that the point is of no more importance than these: Should publishers prosper? Should critics keep cool? Should poets sleep on mantel pieces? Should electors keep hens?

The Connecticut woman who has sued a physician because he changed her complexion from that of a blond to a brunette really ought to have a little patience. The brunette will be in fashion again before long, and then she will be glad of the change. But woman always was an impulsive crea-

Train robberies have become so frequent in the west that one railroad, the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, regards an investment in bloodhounds advisable. A litter of the puppies has been distributed among the agents along the line, with instructions to rear them for the sole purpose of man-catching.

The cigarette smoker is having hard time nowadays in finding a job. The Northwestern, the "Q," the New York Central, and the Pennsylvania will not employ a cigarette smoker; Macey's, Wanamaker's, Siegel, Cooper & Co., and McCreary will not employ one in their big New York stores, and all the smaller institutions are getting into line. Pipes, cigars and chewing tobacco are not barred, but the cigaretts is beyond the limit.

Charles R. Flint's Arrow, under contract to be the fastest ship ever launched, has been pushed into the water at New York. It has been guaranteed by the builder that the boat will easily make 42 miles an hour, and in an emergency can be pushed up to Audrain county, Rhodes Cay, E., Some about the limit in speed at sea, but then we thought that limit was reached 15 years ago when an 18-mile

It is now claimed, as a result of experiments in London hospitals, that both sunlight and electric light cure certain diseases when all other remedies fail. Bright sunlight, it is said, will kill the bacillus prodigiousus, the strongest of microbes, in one hour and a half. Old Diogenes, it seems, knew what was good for him when he asked Alexander the Great as the only favor he desired from the latter to stand out of his sunlight.

According to the census returns, the Indian population of the United States is about 267,900, and experts say that there are probably as many or nearly as many Indians on the continent now as there were when it was discovered. As the Indians are slowly increasing in number and, according to Prof. Starr, of the Chicago university, the rest of us are becoming Indians, the next adventurer who discovers Americs will find the red men very numerous.

There are millions of people in China who do not yet know and may never know that the Americans and the powers drove the Chinese horde before them in retreat and captured the imperial city of Peking. The late mails from China brought copies of a Chinese poster which has been tacked up in conspicuous places in most of the Chinese towns, in which the representatives of the various powers are shown praying to Prince Ching for the cessation of hostilities.

An inventor has just perfected s new idea for protecting the rear end of trains from collisions at night time, and everyone is now wondering why the thing was not thought of before. He has an electric headlight mounted on top of the engine cab and pointed to the rear. The light may be swung around in a half-circle and used for signaling. There is no reason why trains should not protect each other by having such a signal code as is used by vessels at sea, and the sooner such a method is required the better it will be for all concerned.

According to the most recent census the population of Belgium is 6,750,000. which for its 11,378 square miles of territory gives 593 inhabitants a square aking Belgium the most thickly populated country on the globe. Hol-land's population is 5,145,000, which gives for the 12,582 square miles of Dutch territory 408 inhabitants a square mile, making the land of dikes and windmills the second most densely populated country. In 1875 Holland had but 3,767,000 inhabitants. The present population shows a steady in-crease of 55,120 inhabitants a year.

How much the American export trade really amounts to is shown by the statement that at the present time we are exporting goods of American manufacture to the value of more than $1,000,000 every day, including Sundays and holidays. This is beyond our wildest dreams of a few years ago, but there really does not seem to be any good reason why the total should not be still further increased. Having learned how to capture for-eign markets Americans are prepared to turn the knowledge to practical account in every country in the world.

him $500.01. St. Louis real estate men are preparing to contest the legality of constitutional amendment No. 3, which was adopted at the presidential election. To this end they have raised a fund and engaged an attorney. They declare that the case will be carried to the supreme court. Amendment No. 3 provides for the taxation of evidences of debt, such as mortgages and bonds. Under it mortgages would only be taxed to cover the holder's equity, and the owner of the mortgage would be taxed on the basis of its face value. These provisions are objected to by local and foreign moneylenders. The agents claim that enforcement of the provisions would drive capital out of the state and seriously affect their business. The supreme court affirmed the death sentence of Milo Gregory and Noah McGinnis and fixed December 20 as the date for the executions. Gregory killed Joseph Covert, a merchant of Dunklin county, in a dispute over an account. McGinnis was convicted Bates county on the night of April 18, 1899, in an attempt to rob the old farmer. No one was at home except the man and his wife, and the farmer made a fight on the would-be-robber, in which he was killed. The rob-

GERMAN NATIONAL BANK OF NEWPORT, KY

Shortage of About Two Hundred Thousand Dollars in the Accounts of Assistant Cashier Frank M. Brown Discovered by Bank Examiner Tucker.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20 .- "The bank is closed by order of the comptroller of the currency." "O. P. TUCKER, [Signed]

National Bank Examiner." The above notice appeared on the doors of the stately building of the ierman national bank of Newport, Ky., prior to the time for opening. The salient facts of the cause of the notice had been known since Sunday morning and, therefore, there were none of the usual scenes accompanying a run on the bank by depositors The alleged defalcation of Assistant Cashier Frank M. Brown to the amount of about $200,000, was a fact so overwhelming that no depositor was foolish enough to suppose that any good could be accomplished by attempting to get money from the

The Defalcation Discovered.

National Bank Examiner O. P. Tucker, who is in charge, in an interview, said that the alleged defalcation was not discovered by him until ten o'clock on Saturday night, that both he and the bank's own experts had been unable to find anything wrong until that time. The discovery was made in a comparison of Brown's individual ledger with the cashier's daily checking up. Here, he said, it was found that Brown had been force ing balances from day to day until the total of $192,000 had been withdrawn from the funds of the bank. Criminal Proceedings.

The examiner further said that the matter of criminal proceedings had been referred to United States District Attorney Hill, of Louisville who would cause a warrant for Brown's arrest to be issued. The examiner himself had not taken this step because he knew that Brown was absent. The only bond which the bank holds is that of Paris C. Brown, the father of the assistant cashier, who is well-know river man, and president of the Consolidated Boat Store Co.

Will Ruin Brown's Father. This bond is an open one, conditioned to cover any shortage by the son. It is said that though Paris C. Brown has voluntarily offered his entire property to meet his obligation, not more than $20,000 can be realized from this source. The examiner stat-Methodist school, was damaged to the ed that while he had been named as temporary receiver, the appointment of a permanent receiver was in the Harding, a student, on the fourth hands of the comptroller of the cur-

The stock he says, is of no value, as a double liability assessment must be made. Depositors may receive a dividend as soon as the comptroller of the currency will authorize it, but this may be weeks and even months, Depositors will be notified of the amounts to their credit and they will be required to make proof of their claims

Will Make a Thorough Examination Examiner Tucker said he would emoloy a full force of clerks to arrange the business of the bank and make every effort to collect all the debts due the bank and in every way discover the bank's exact condition, but until that time he would not make a positive statement as to the extent of the liability beyond that it now appeared to be $192,000.

Corporations That Will Suffer. The bank was the depository of nine building associations and of the adjoining corporations of Bellevue, Dayton and other towns, as well as of about fifteen hundred individuals and firms.

There are no indications of an ac complice or of anyone knowing about Brown's departure or destination.

TEMPORARY RECEIVERSHIP.

National Bank Examiner Tucker Appointed Temporary Receiver. Washington, Nov. 20 .- Comptroller of the Currency Dawes has appointed Oliver P. Tucker, national bank examiner, temporary receiver of the German national bank of Newport

Mr. Tucker telegraphed the con troller that he had taken charge, owing to the discovery of a defalcation amounting to about $195,000, and thereupon the comptroller appointed him temporary receiver. The officials here consider it astonishing that a defalcation amounting to more than the reserve of the bank could have remained undiscovered for any length of time, but they attempt to offer no explanation, as Mr. Tucker has not yet furnished any details. The last examination of the bank was made in May last.

"Now Dont Get the Blues!

When a cheerful, brave and light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the blues, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:

Ŧ

She has been feeling out of sorts for some time, experi-encing severe headache and backache; sleeps very poorly and is exceedingly nervous.

Sometimes she is nearly overcome by faintness, dizzi-ness, and palpitation of the heart; then that bearing-down feeling is dreadfully wearing.

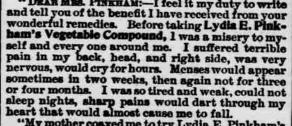

Her husband says, "Now, don't get the blues! You will be all right after you have taken the doctor's medicine."

But she does not get all right. She grows worse day by day, until all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established. Her doctor has made a mistake.

She loses faith; hope vanishes; then comes the morbid, melancholy, everlasting blues. She should have been told just what the trouble was, but probably she withheld some information from the doctor, who, therefore, is unable to accurately locate her particular illness.

Mrs. Pinkham has relieved thousands of women from just this kind of trouble, and now retains their grateful letters in her library as proof of the great assistance she has rendered them. This same assistance awaits every sick woman in the land.
